

Too old?

New rights from October 2006!

Frank's story

“ I was looking forward to our fancy new database system being up and running. I could see that it would save a lot of time and hassle. So I was stunned when my boss wouldn't even let me go on the training for it. 'Can't teach an old dog new tricks' he said. He reckoned that at my age I'd never cope with the change! ”

Frank is being discriminated against because his manager is making assumptions about him based on his age. From October 2006 this kind of discrimination is illegal.

Continued over

Age discrimination facts:

- Age discrimination can affect you whether you're young or old
- It can happen if you're applying for a job, in a job, on training, or even if you're self employed
- The new rules protect you from discrimination by your boss, your colleagues and even your clients

How old are you,
Master Da Vinci?

Sixty-Six!

Being over 65 doesn't mean you're too old to work...

Don't put up with age discrimination! Get advice from an advice agency or for more information visit:

www.advicenow.org.uk/age

Written by Jana Elles with material from the London Discrimination Unit.

Published by Advice Services Alliance (September 2006).

Funded by the Department for Trade and Industry.

Advice Services Alliance, Bramah House, 65–71 Bermondsey Street, London SE1 3XF.

advice services alliance